

At a Glance

We experienced 7% growth in our programs and welcomed new staff to take on expanding projects. We nearly doubled the number of submitted proposals addressing topics such as housing, aging, community living, and self-employment. Strong partnerships with local, state, and national entities resulted in new contracts and collaborations.

The Rural Institute helps rural Americans with disabilities to be fully included in their communities. Please visit our website and Facebook page to learn more.

Martin E. Blair, Ph.D.
Executive Director

Catherine Ipsen, Ph.D.
Associate Director

A Few Highlights

- Launched a speech-language pathology training program in rural and American Indian communities.
- Established the Montana Pre-Employment Transition Services Technical Assistance Center.
- Investigated distance delivery methods for health promotion training.
- Delivered training to Head Start, Montana Milestones/Part C, and other early childhood providers about early screening for autism and developmental disabilities.
- Conducted fall prevention research and training for older adults with disabilities.
- Evaluated needs of Montana families of children with special health care needs.

Students & leadership

- 40 Student trainees (21 with 150+ hours)
- 5 Trainees are currently in disability leadership roles (2010 cohort)
- 24 Continuing education programs
- 60 Training events for 7,000+ participants

Federal funds

$11 Every $1 of core federal funds leveraged an additional $11 for research, training and services

Projects/programs

- 27 Active projects and programs
- 40 Active research activities

Products

- 61 Products developed such as
 - » Webinars
 - » Publications
 - » Newsletters
 - » Reports
 - » Brochures
 - » Fact sheets

Over
600
Hours of

Technical assistance

1669
Specialized services and continuing education

People served

47
Professional presentations

Presentations

Rural Institute

For Inclusive Communities

A Year In Review - July 2015 to June 2016

At a Glance

We experienced 7% growth in our programs and welcomed new staff to take on expanding projects. We nearly doubled the number of submitted proposals addressing topics such as housing, aging, community living, and self-employment. Strong partnerships with local, state, and national entities resulted in new contracts and collaborations.

The Rural Institute helps rural Americans with disabilities to be fully included in their communities. Please visit our website and Facebook page to learn more.

Martin E. Blair, Ph.D., Executive Director and Catherine Ipsen, Ph.D., Associate Director

A Few Highlights

- Launched a speech-language pathology training program in rural and American Indian communities.
- Established the Montana Pre-Employment Transition Services Technical Assistance Center.
- Investigated distance delivery methods for health promotion training.
- Delivered training to Head Start, Montana Milestones/Part C, and other early childhood providers about early screening for autism and developmental disabilities.
- Conducted fall prevention research and training for older adults with disabilities.
- Evaluated needs of Montana families of children with special health care needs.

Students & leadership

- 40 Student trainees (21 with 150+ hours)
- 5 Trainees are currently in disability leadership roles (2010 cohort)
- 24 Continuing education programs
- 60 Training events for 7,000+ participants

Federal funds

- $11 Every $1 of core federal funds leveraged an additional $11 for research, training and services

Projects/programs

- 27 Active projects and programs
- 40 Active research activities

Products

- 61 Products developed such as
 - » Webinars
 - » Publications
 - » Newsletters
 - » Reports
 - » Brochures
 - » Fact sheets

Technical assistance

- 600+ Hours of assistance

People served

- 1669 Specialized services and continuing education

Presentations

- 47 Professional presentations

ruralinstitute.umt.edu

The University of Montana Rural Institute
52 Corbin Hall, Missoula, MT 59812

(406) 243-5467 Voice/TTY local
(800) 732-0323 Voice/TTY Toll-Free
(406) 243-2349 Fax

